Hours Spent Yesterday in Hearing Agents of Publishing Houses. The State Board of Education held an-ther extended session yesterday, but there was nothing to enliven the proeedings, and the session dragged through Its weary length until at 5:39 o'clock the board adjourned in order to permit Dr. Southall to catch a train for his home. When the board convened at 10 o'clock came to Richmond and tried to make arrangements with his company for the publication of books in Richmond. Mr. Johnson told him that he did not have the facilities.

The Colonel said that if his company should be given the contract for books he would have all of them printed in Rich-mond if the work could be done as cheap-ly and as well here as in New York.

Dr. Jones made an earnest plea for he University Company. He reminded the board that this was the first company that published books by southern authors. Men like Generals Gordon, Hampton, Hood, and other distinguished outherners had part in the organization of the company. Dr. Jones said he did not feel so kindly disposed toward the University Company a few years ago when he heard it was controlled by the American Company. He had since been convinced that there was no truth in

Mr. Munford was the last speaker, He pleaded eloquently for this company His remarks were chiefly along the lin of those of Dr. Jones. Mr. Munford could see no objection to books written by such men as Murray, Venable, Holmes, Gildersleeve, and others even if the print-ing is done at the North. He read the list of a number of southern people who are stockholders in the University Com

Mr. Everett Waddey followed the University Company representatives, and spoke for an hour, urging the adoption of local publications. He submitted figures showing the amount of money now being sent out of the State which would be retained here if contracts were given to the local houses, and impressed the board no little.

A recess was taken for dinner after Mr. Waddey finished, and after dinner several other representatives appeared and submitted their claims for considera-

Knowing the harassing position and uous work that has devolved on the State Board, it was suggested that the undersigned committees appear in a body and thus save the time of the board, and as the rooms of the Superintendent of Public Instruction are too small to accommodate them, it was further ested, if agreeable to the board, that the committees be heard in the Supreme Court-room, or Chamber of Commerce, or my other place satisfactory to the board.

MAIN-STREET'S NEW BILL.

Variety of Attractions to Be Presented at This Park.

Main-Street Vaudeville Park grows older gracefully, and each week but adds to its list of successes. Last week the most popular and drawing bill yet given delighted large audiences on every clear night, and fairly good-sized ones on those that were inclement. This week, com-mencing with to-morrow night, the bill will introduce widely different features in an equally capable manner.

It will be hard to discriminate between several of the features on this week's programme, but it is certain that in the best of company Charles and Lottie Freemont have always received a marked underlining. They are the original "Eastside" couple, and in their clever turn they succeed in introducing a number of new song and dance specialties. They picture life in the under-strata of society in New York in a way that makes it lose the usual staginess of such attempts, and their success has been phenomenal. An attractive feature, however, is furnished in the appearance of the Clerise Sisters, instrumentalists and vocalists. Each possesses a voice of range, power, and cultivation, and in addition a mastery of the Italian harp and zither, which makes them capable of indepen-dently furnishing an entire evening's entertainment. In addition to these much that is new in comic songs and light comedy will be furnished by Curdy and Leslie, a very capable team of fun-makers. Then, too, there will be dainty Miss Annie Lloyd, in serio-comic, and the Sisters Bernard, in songs and acrobatic dances, the latter being some-thing new. The performances throughout the week will commence nightly at 8:45

They Expect to Take a More Active Interest in Athletics.

The Alumni Association of the University of Virginia has been called to meet at the Commonwealth Club on Tuesday, July 19th, at 9:30 P. M., to discuss the athletic situation at the University. It is desired to make radical changes in the present method of administration, and, to this end Dr. W. A. Lambeth, the physical director, is making a tour of the State, conferring with the alumni. It is desired by the faculty and under-graduates that the alumni shall be more closely indentified with college athletics than they have been heretofore, and the result of this movement will probably be the formation of a graduate advisory com-

> Effects of the Mauser Bullet. (Philadelphia Ledger.)

The wounded soldiers at Tampa show clean-cut wounds, without laceration made by Mauser bullets at long range Those who were struck at close rang during the early fighting were so ball mutilated that it was at first believed the Spaniards had hacked their with machetes. The difference is explain ed to be that the Mauser builet, w! leaves the gun has a twisting, spiral mo tion, which causes it to tear large holes in any soft substance that it passes through, while, after it has gone some distance, it loses this motion and travels with a steady, even flight, which carries it through flesh and bone without making a hole larger than itself. The wounded man say, however, that, though the halless gave them little pain when they struck they knocked down the men they hit, and this answers a question of great interest to foreign military students, especially among the English, who have expressed much curiosity as to the abilities of the various types of projectiles to "stop" an advancing foe. They find fault with 1908 of the small calibre bullets because of their supposed inability to stop the man they hit, and defend the spreading Dum bullet adopted by the British army. because, they say, when it strikes a mon it puts him out of the combat immediate-But now it seems that the slender Mauser bullets do the same, and opinion on this point will have to be revised
